To The Democratic Leaders.

The preliminary tests of strength in this campaign show beyond question that Mr. Blaine cannot be efected by Republican votes. The desperate fight anade by him and under him the Republicans, in spite of Blaine, ably certain that the following named in Ohio resulted in an absolute Tailnre to command a majority of the votes, or to get one-half the plurality field. should know what this means. They have seen the vast and thoroughly organized machinery of the Republican Party steadily perfected through a quarter of a century of unbroken possession of power. Whatever trained skill can do with enormous patronage, with the money of the lobby, of the star-route millionaires, of the monopolists and the corporations, of Gould and Field and Elkins, will be done. Mr. Blaine has pat Gen. Builer in the field as hired tool and agent, doing bls work and subject to his orders in the same relation that the nnprincipled old humbug malntamed as counsel of the corporations. Butler's sole end now is to divide the Demoeratic Party, and he is laboring for his reward with all the andacity and all the slowdness which a life spent in public resculity has given him. POLITICAL POINTS.

NO HOPE FROM THE SOUTH. The Democrats of Imliana have quite generally taken up and pushed the tariff issue. In fact, under the wise guidance of Thomas A. Heredricks, they have assumed the aggressive on this question from the start, and the majority of the people of tudiana are with them. This seems to have had its effect on Mr. Blaine. In his speech yesterday, at Fort Wayne, the longest he has made since he stacted on his tour, he barely alluded to the tariff. Mr. Blaine, since West Virginia has voted, largely increasing her Democratic majority, has no hope of any aid from the South, and yesterday he waved the bloody shirt with great ylgor. This year will occur the presidential election and it is reasonable to expect a full vote and that the increased vote will be given in the main for the party eandidate. THE TROJAN HORSE. But nevertheless Troy was to remain impregnable so long as it retained the Palladinm, which, as we have before said, had been given hy Zeus to the founder of the city, Ilus. Ulysses, however, having disguised his person with miserable clothes and self-inflicted wounds, introduced himself into the city and found means to carry away the Pulladium by stealth. He was recognized only by Helen, who concerted with him means for the capture of the then said: town. A final stratagem was resorted to. The Trojans, terrified by this spectacle, and persuaded by the perfidions connsels of the traitor Simon -who had been expressly left behind by the Greeks to give them false information-were induced to drag the fatal fabric into their city; and, as the gate was not large enough to admit it, they even made a breach in their own wall. This this horse was introduced into the Aeroplis, and placed in the Agora before Prinm's palace. But even now opinions were divided; many demanding that the herse should be cut in pieces; others advising that it should be dragged to the highest point of the Acropolis and thrown thence on the rocks below. The strongest party, however, insisted on its being dedicated to the gods as a token of gratitude for their deliverance.

After sunset the Greek fleet returned to the shore of the plain of Troy and awaited the preconcerted signal. While the Trojans indulged in riotous festivities Simon kindled the fire-signal and assisted the concealed heroes to open the secret door in the horse's helly, ont of which they descended. The city was now assailed from within and without, and was completely sacked and destroyed, nearly the whole population being slain. Priam, who had vainly sought shelter at the altar of Zeus Herkelos, was killed by Neoptolemus. INTERMITTENT FEVER.

This is the medical name for fever and agne; or rather, fever and ague is one form of intermittent fever. The name refers to the fact that the paroxysms come and go generally at regular intervals. There are three kinds of intermittent fevers-quotidian, in which they return every day; tertian, in which they return every other day; quartan, in which there are two days between their n currence. A fourth kind, called erratic, occurs at irregular intervals.

Intermittent fevers are supposed to be caused by malaria. They mainly prslarge portion of decomposed matter. In this country the disease has been confined chiefly to the West and South. New York and New England have known it atmost wholly by report. For the last few years, however, it has shown itself in New York and Connocticut. This last summer it broks out as an extensive epidemie in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, seizing many victims in both of these States. It is probable that the epidemic has a connection with the great lack of min, which has left the bottoms of so many ponds and marshes bars, thus exposing a large amount of decayed matter. Periods of nuwonted dryness are generally periods of various epidemics, The low water in the wells contains at such times a larger proportion of decomposed matter, for the water drains from a much wider area.

Intermittent fevers begin with a severe chill, during which the teeth chatter and the whole person shakes violently. The fever generally basts several hours. The remedy is quinine, nourishment, rest and, where practicable, removal from the malarial region .-Youth's Companion.

BOYS.

Some people imagine that the world was made for men. All a mistake; it was simply intended for boys to amuse themselves in. Who enjoys life except the boy, if we except an occasional girl or two? Nobody. Grown-up folks try to think they do, and some really imagine they do, but they are mistaken. Men work themselves up into a fever of excitement over an election. They hold mass-meetings and get up torchlight processions of great length and noisy roar, but do they get any fun ont of it? Not a bit. It is the boys on the outside who do that. They are the ones who build the bonfires on street corners, and they do a large share of the hurraliing. Men in a procession move along as solemnly as though they were going to their own funeral, if such a thing were possibls, but the boy who observes them from the curb-stone, or who trots along close to the Drum Major, is all animation and joy. He takes it all ln, and is the freshest one in the party when the tramp is completed, no matter how long he is in passing a multitude of given points. No one gets such keen enjoyment out of a play as the gallery god. And all circuses in the country are gotten np with an eye single to his special amusement. If we could be a girl agnin we would prefer to be a boy. -Buffalo Express.

In preparing this bath great care must, however, be exercised, owing to the inflammability of its ingredients. To prevent the paraffine from escaping from the pores, the wood should be coated with oil varnish or soluble glass, washed after drying with dilnted hydrochlorie scid. The silicle acid thus formed clogs up the pores from the ontside, and protects the parafline from the action of the water, Paraffine, melted with equal parts of linseed or rapeseed oil, is also, according to Dr. Schal, useful for coating iron vessels, which, in chemical manufacto-

A SPIDER STORY. One chilly day I was left at home 'Robinson Crusoo," I canglit a spider and brought him into the honse to play with. Funny playmate, wasn't it? Well, I took a wash-hasin and fastened up a stick like a vessel's mast, and then ponred in just water enough to turn the mast into an island for my spider, which I named Crusoe, and put him on the mast. As soon as he was fairly cast away he anxiously commenced running round to find the mainland. Ha'd scanper down the mast to the water, stick ont a foot, get it wet, shake it, run nround the stick and try the other side, and then run back to the top again. Pretty soon it became a scrious matter to Mr. Rohinson, and he sat down to think over it. As in a moment he acted as if he wanted to shout for a boat, and was afraid he was going to ho hungry, I put treacle on the stick. A fly came, but Crusoe wasn't sick for his web in the corner of the woodshed. He went slowly down the pole to the water, and touched it al. round, shaking his feet like pussy when she wets her stockings in the grass, and and turned around two or three times. TRUE VACCINE MATTER.

Dr. Martin, of Boston, was the first American physician who, in view of the danger attending the use of vaccine virus taken from the human body, experimented successfully upon a return to Dr. Jenner's original method of using ths bovine virus. Dr. Foster, of New York, and in 1867 Dr. Robbins, of Brooklyn, followed Dr. Martin's example, and Dr. Robbins, with his associate, Dr. Lewis, Is now engaged in the production on a large scale of virus derived from Beaugeney stock, npon which they have "ingrafted" the celebrated Vincennes stock, to procure which Dr. Robbins made a special visit to France. It is worthy of note, however, that the original stock is just as potent as ever, though its power varies according to the constitution of the animal from which it has been obtained.
